welcomed to Canada as of January 2015. This announcement builds on the Government of Canada's earlier announcement of $40 million, announced in November 2014, for programs and activities directly supporting the Syrian refugee population. The Government of Canada will continue to work in partnership with the provinces and territories to support these refugees, and will invest additional resources to meet the needs of these vulnerable populations. The Government of Canada will also continue to support the refugees in the region, including Palestinians displaced by the conflict, internally displaced persons, and refugees from other countries, where they have been welcoming and generous hosts. Related Links Refugee crisis Timeline Overview In the early morning hours of April 4, 2014, the regime of Bashar al-Assad attacked and captured the northern city of Aleppo, Syria, with heavy weaponry, tanks, artillery, and warplanes. In the days that followed, the Assad regime engaged in a violent assault on the remaining parts of Aleppo, resulting in the deaths of hundreds of thousands of people. According to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), as of January 2015 there were over six million people displaced inside Syria. Of these people, more than one million are refugees or asylum seekers. The al-Quds hospital in the northern city of Aleppo has received over a thousand victims of violence in the past few weeks, says the head of the hospital, Dr. Abed Abdollah. The doctors describe a catastrophic
